

Printing Tips For IE 7.0 Browser -

Several students have had problems printing from Blackboard in the new IE 7.0 Browser Environment when opening an attachment. A work around for this problem would be to switch to another Browser such as Netscape or FireFox and print from within that environment. If you would like to still print from the IE 7.0 Browser for attachments you will need to make sure you have the "Open Links from other programs" option selected under the Tools option. This is done by clicking on "Tools", "Internet Options", locate the "Change on how web pages are displayed in tabs area" and click on "Settings". Look for "open links in other programs" and select the "A new window" radio button. Close and then try to reopen the attachment and select "Save". The attachment will open in the appropriate program and you will be able to print the document. You will only have to do this one time once you set your IE browser to this setting.

You may also cut and paste information into a new document and then print.
